

Nagoya University
Graduate School of Bioagricultural Sciences
School of Agricultural Sciences

Fall Graduation Ceremony of Nagoya University was held on Sep 28, 2020. Eighteen international students received diplomas from the School of Agriculture and the Graduate School of Bioagricultural Sciences.

Nagoya University offers an academic year system of fall admissions of certain students, a majority of whom are students of international programs. The fall graduation ceremony of Nagoya University was taken place on Sep 28, 2020, at the Toyoda Auditorium. Eighteen international students graduated from the School of Agriculture (5 Bachelor's degrees) and the Graduate School of Bioagricultural Sciences (4 Master's degrees and 9 Doctoral degrees). Following COVID-19 measures guidelines, Dean Tsuchikawa, wearing a face shield and gloves, handed diplomas one by one to the graduates in Lecture Room 3. Online graduation ceremony was held for students of Transnational Doctoral Programs for Leading Professionals in Asian Countries (Asian Satellite Campuses Institute) by connecting several venues on Nagoya University campuses, Cambodia satellite campus and Mongolia satellite campus. Congratulations!

1

4

2

5

3

1. Diploma conferment by Dean Tsuchikawa
2. New Bachelors
3. New Masters
4. New Doctors
5. Online graduation ceremony of Asian satellite campuses (venues in Nagoya, Cambodia and Mongolia)